Senator Joyal Finally Lands Something for His Assistance to Hollis.

Senator John Washington Stanley Joyal of Manchester, was apdefinite. Senator Joyal succeeds F.

Senator Joyal was a candidate for the commission itself but Dr. Augustus A. E. Brien was appointed in his stead. Later he aspired to a clerkship at police headquarters. He was elected senator on the Republican ticket but voted usually with the Democrats during the session. He will be forty years old on Washington's birthday.
Commissioner Brien said Saturday that the matter of removing the salons at the Manchester civic center is still under consideration of the commission. An announcement will be made in two or three weeks on this matter.

Hovey Address Meeting of Star Lodge of Odd Ladies

secretary, Mrs. Susie Barlow; treasurer, Mrs. Belle Hanson; trustee, much appreciated by the attentive listeners.

Miss Hovey, the president of the Equal Suffrage League of this city, spoke as follows:
"It is a great pleasure for me to meet you here tonight and to talk to you a little while about woman suf-

BARRETT SHOWS HIS TEETH

Will Discharge Any City Employe Taking Orders From Anybody Else.

There is open war between Superintendent James W. Barrett of the board of public works and Mayor Harry B.
Yeaton and today the following notice was posted:
Notice.
All employees of the department of Public Works are strictly forbidden to take orders directly from anyone, except the superintendent or his assistants connected with this department.
BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.
J. W. Barrett, Supt.

On Saturday it is claimed some city employes were sent by Mayor Yeaton to clear out the gutters on Middle street near the Middle street Baptist church and in consequence of their action that afternoon at the close of work, Superintendent Barrett lined the employees of the street up in the city yard and in very emphatic and forcible language informed them that hereafter if they took orders from anyone except the superintendent, it would mean their discharge.

FAMOUS BOSTON CHURCH BURNS

Second Universalist Edifice Is Badly Damaged
by Flames.

Boston, Feb. 10.—The Second Universalist church at Clarendon and Chandler streets, in the South End, was badly damaged by fire early today.
Starting in the rear of the large brick structure, the flames quickly swept through the interior.
The church, one of the oldest Universalist places of worship in the city, was in the midst of a building house district, and many families were temporarily driven from their homes.
The famous divine, Soames Ballou, was the first pastor of the church. The present pastor is Rev. S. H. Robbins.
The damage is estimated at about $100,000 including the destruction of the valuable organ.
As the fire permeated to the front of the church the Armen took precautions to guard against the danger to nearby buildings in case the hundred foot steeple should fall. The Back Bay hotel is directly across Columbus avenue, from one corner of the church.

OFFICERS ARRIVE WITH BEACH

He Has Confessed Everything Concerning Studebaker Robbery and Says Jewels Were Worth
$22,000

Edgar Beach, alias William Thomas, the much wanted man, wanted for the wholesale jewelry robbery at the Studebaker summer home at Little Boars Head, June 17 1912, arrived here today in custody of Sheriff Splintney and Chief of Police Harley, who re-arrested him on Saturday last when he was discharged from the Philadelphia county jail, Philadelphia, after serving a term for a similar robbery at the house of Dr.
Freeman, a leading physician of that city. The police of Pennsylvania and New York say he is one of the most nervous crooks of the country. The local officers got a surprise in the process. Beach is an educated man as can be seen by his manners and speech. He claims to have obtained his education at the Cambridge University, England, and has traveled a good part of the world. He was once on the Keith vaudeville circuit and has numerous pictures showing his act.

He has admitted everything in connection with the Studebaker robbery and estimates the jewelry which he took from the safe there was valued at not less than $22,000. He told The Herald man that he went there for the purpose of robbery, but it took him ten days to carry out his plans.
On the night he planned the safe, he walked on the highway to New-buryport and believes that several of the autos which passed him on the road contained officers engaged in searching for him.

Arriving at Newburyport, he took a train in the morning for Chelsea and Revere where he made the first sale of the stolen property. He then went to Boston and after three hours took the Federal Express to New York.
From there he went to Philadelphia.
After disposing of most of the stolen goods he had planned to get a steamer for Naples. The war was on at the time and he was afraid of being detected. Before he could make up his mind on some other sea trip, the detectives got him.
He claims to be supporting two adopted children in England who he also says, he has money in the bank and property.
His hair shows a sprinkling of grey which he says was the result of 22 months solitary confinement in Philadelphia.
He would not admit what the justice of New York want him for, but he did say, it was not such a big job as the one at Little Boars Head.
In concluding his talk with The Herald man he said: "The Stude-baker's were very good to me, and I felt as if I took too much from them.
I thought several times of turning back and replacing the necklace and a few other articles."
He was arraigned in the district court at two o'clock this afternoon and waived the reading of the writ charging him with the larceny of jewelry valued at $13,000 and pleaded not guilty. He was ordered to rec-

POTOMAC HELD BY SEA OF ICE

Revenue Cutter Androscooggin
Will Sail Today to Aid
Her in Work.

Caribbea, N. H., Feb. 9.—The United States naval tug, Potomac, for which considerable anxiety has been felt was reported on Saturday in an ice floe west of the Bay of Islands. Today it was learned she was caught in the ice in George's Bay.
The Potomac was sent to the Bay of Islands at the earnest application of Congressman Augustus P. Gardner in an endeavor to release American fishermen caught in the ice.
She was obliged to abandon her attempt on Thursday to liberate the vessels, as she was short of coal. No direct word has been heard from her since.
O. C. Gould the United States consular agent at this port is hopeful that the Potomac will come safely out of the ice. He said tonight that his acquaintance with conditions of the coast were of the opinion that her position is not a dangerous one.
"A lead is likely to open through the ice any day now, enabling the Potomac to proceed to Sydney or to return here for fuel," he said.

ANDROSCOGGIN DELAYED

Will Sail Today, However, Carrying Coal and Provisions for the Naval Tug Potomac.

Portland, Me., Feb. 9.—The revenue cutter Androscooggin will sail tomorrow to the aid of the naval tug Potomac. She loaded 22 tons of coal here today and expected to sail at sunset tonight, but owing to the time required to take on the coal and provisions the later sailing was made necessary.

BURNS AND DRYDEN WIN IN TWO FAST BOUTS

There were two rattling good wrestling matches at Freeman's hall on Monday evening when Cyclone Burns had to go some to get away with Elmer Johnson a rainy Norwegian. Bill Dryden did not have as much difficulty with Harry Moe, also a Norwegian, but it was a good bout at that.

Dryden pleased the fans mightily when he announced that he was in a fair way of getting the Cyclone Burns-Gerhardt match. He has offered George Toubey $800 for the finished match and it is possible that he will get it. As is known to every fan in New England, both have had a fall in limited time matches and last week they did a whirlwind hour match without a fall. If Dryden can get the match it will be the biggest sporting event pulled off in this city for a great many years.

Crack-a-Jack Butler, who was to be here to referee the matches, missed the six o'clock train out of Boston and Merrill refereed the first match and Dryden officiated at the second bout.

Dryden and Moe took and wrestle a good deal alike. The local man is the heavier but Moe is a strong rugged fellow who uses his strength to a good advantage, but he was up against a tough proposition in Dryden. Several times it looked as though Dryden would get him early in the match but he worked out of a number of bad places. Once Dryden had a double toe hold but Moe broke away. Other than this there was very little attempt at the toe hold in either match and the wrestling was clean and fast. Dryden finally landed his first fall in 33m. 25s. with an arm bar and a full body scissors.

The second fall came after 14 minutes when Dryden rolled Moe into an arm bar and body scissors.

The second bout was a very fast and fine match. Johnson is a little taller than the Cyclone, but there is very little difference in their weights. Johnson is as graceful a man on the mat as has ever shown here. Every move is graceful and this in a wrestling match is going some, but he works easy and at times it appeared indifferent, but he was always on the outlook. He has wonderful control of his legs and uses them to a great advantage and several times they saved him a fall, when Burns would have him in a bad way, only to have his own legs pulled out of position. Both men are very fast and they mixed it very nicely and both were willing to go to the going at all times. Johnson had Burns in one or two decidedly bad places but his great strength and knowledge of the game stood him in good stead and he pulled out.

He did not have anything on Johnson in this respect. Twice he broke away from wicked looking hammer locks and with apparent ease. After pulling out of a very bad place the fall came like a flash when Burns pulled him with a full body scissors and pinned the Norwegian to the mat in 29 minutes 50 seconds.

The second was also very fast. Johnson showed the result of the first bout by showing up some, but he was working just as hard. Five minutes before the fall that ended the match was declared, the crowd began to move when the Norwegian was up, pinned but by a mighty effort he rolled out and broke away twice after that, but he finally was pinned in 22 minutes, 45 seconds, with a body scissors and a half nelson.

COL. GOETHALS SUSPENDS BURKE IN CANAL CRAFT

Manager and Chief Clerk of Commissary Department
Are Relieved from Duty.

Panama, Feb. 9.—Complete reorganization of the subsistence and commissary departments in the canal zone, with Captain Frank C. Whitlock, U. S. Cavalry in charge, was begun today after Col. George W. Goethals, chairman of the Panama Canal Commission, had suspended John Burke, manager of the commissary department and W. F. Shipley, chief clerk of the subsistence department, and had relieved from duty Lieut. Col. Eugene T. Wilson, chief of the subsistence department at his own request.

Both departments will be placed on a permanent organization basis immediately and many clerks will be dismissed. Col. Goethals took action against these officials on receipt of the report of Special Agent Nye who had investigated the charges against Burke that he had accepted gratuities in connection with the purchase of supplies.

Col. Goethals declared that the investigation would be vigorously pushed, in an effort to bring the guilty persons, if any to justice.

In announcing his decision Col. Goethals read a list of the deposits made by Burke during his term as manager of the department, aggregating many thousands of dollars and said he would give him every opportunity to show his innocence, in the transaction whereby Laria and company of Hamburg deposited $5,566, J. H. Sales of Colon $5000 and DeLeon and Company of New York $2000 to his credit in Indianapolis banks.

Those firms were very large sellers to the commissary department, and the amounts in question were traced to Burke's accounts.

Col. Goethals then informed Burke that in view of these facts he must suspend him immediately. He asked Burke if he had a statement to make and Burke replied:

"I can look you or any other man in the eye and tell you I am innocent. You have found one thing in the record of the secret service men that varies from my previous statements.

I want to say right here I have never taken a cent of money in my life and I will go before any court for vindication."

Shipley was suspended for incompetence. Lieut. Col. Wilson declined in the absence of the records of his office to explain many purchases involving irregularities and was relieved from duty.

Col. Goethals said he regarded him as only careless and negligent. Col. Wilson requested clemency on account of ill-health.

JAPAN IGNORES TIME

Impatience among the Japanese is a thing you will rarely observe as you travel about through their strange and beautiful country. If, on the other hand, you, yourself in touring Japan, might upon occasion grow somewhat impatient, you will only become the quiet laughing stock behind your back—of the little Japs themselves. An hour, or even a day more or less in this oriental country is of little account, and matters cannot be made to move any quicker because of any irritability. In fact, this latter acts as an obstacle to your progress as well as to one's peace of mind. If, for example, your coolies wish to stop for a meal after you have started on a trip, you will find it expedient to accept the delay philosophically. Standing will not mend matters in the least.

If you might chance to be in a large Jap town with the steamship docks lying only a mile or two distant, you naturally would expect to receive reliable information as to the dates and hours of sailing of the steamships. You will often be told upon inquiry at the hotel offices and in perfectly good faith—that the steamers leave daily. Upon arriving at the vessel you sought, left yesterday.

Getting excited will not remedy the matter in the least. The Jap word "tadama" meaning immediately, may in reality mean anything between two and next month.

To all of your queries the natives will say "shakatazami"—it can't be helped—which brings an end to the matter as far as the native natives are concerned. Incidentally you might as well initiate his example. It will save you much waste of energy and loss of comfort, and if you are to enjoy your travel in Japan you will really lead the art of "resignation to your fate" and you yourselves will have many good opportunities of studying Japanese life in its natural pictorial setting. Don't get annoyed, if nearly every casual Jap acquaintance you meet asks you a lot of personal questions. To ask personal questions is the Jap way of showing kindly interest in your welfare.—A. B. Winter in Philadelphia North American.

ACCIDENT CASE BEFORE JURY

Action of Walter R. Sanders vs. Boston & Maine Will Occupy Several Days.

In the superior court on Monday an interesting case was begun before Judge William H. Sawyer. It is an action against the Boston & Maine railroad brought by Dr. Walter R. Sanders of Derby for alleged personal injuries received as his team collided with the south-bound passenger train at the Derby depot on the afternoon of February 15, 1913.

A jury was impaneled and after a brief opening by both attorneys, Sherman T. Burroughs of Manchester for the plaintiff, and John H. Bartlett of Portsmouth for the defendant, the members left for the scene of the alleged accident.

The panel consists of Edmund T. Brown of North Hampton, foreman; George E. Eastman, Kensington; Frank E. James, Hampton; John H. Pate, Portsmouth; Fred H. Akers, Salem; Charles H. Snyder, Greenland; Joseph H. Elderly, Epping; Jay W. Stickney, Atkinson; Lewis H. Griffin, Richmond; William C. Merryfield, Philadelphia; Benjamin P. Liten, Exeter; and Sidney F. Kimball, Newton.

Other attorneys engaged are David A. Tiggard and John P. McLane of Manchester for the plaintiff, and Albert B. Hatch and John H. Mitchell of Portsmouth, for the defendant. There were 20 witnesses present and it is expected that the case will occupy at least three days.

LOFTIEST SPAR EVER FOR THE SHAMROCK

British Yachtsmen Have Faith in the Latest Challenger

British yachtsmen are taking the keenest interest in the progress of Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger for the America cup; also they appear to have the greatest faith in Charles Nicholson, who has drawn the lines for the latest of the Shamrock family.

Nicholson has had a remarkable success with smaller crafts and it is believed that his latest production will prove of radical design. Already it has been hinted that Shamrock will have a centerboard, the first large English yacht to be so equipped.

There has been a lot of guessing on the new Shamrock, but the greatest precautions have been taken to prevent any details getting to the public. With Nicholson just now at the top of his form and Burton conceded to be the greatest British helmsman of this day, yachtsmen across the water consider Lipton has a challenger that should go far toward taking back the blue ribbon of the sea.

the new yacht her designer and helmsman the Manchester Guardian's correspondent writes as follows:

Sir Thomas Lipton's fourth attempt to recover for this country the America cup will be the first contest held under the universal rule of measurement that now rules throughout America. For many years past these races have been governed by an obsolete measurement formula which produced freak yachts of no use for any other purpose; but the vessel's built for the coming contest will be eligible to race at ordinary regattas in America after the cup matches have been decided, and their creation will tend to give an impetus to the sport in general.

Sir Thomas Lipton is more hopeful of success than he has ever been before, but if he is building upon this change in the measurement rule alone his hopes would appear to rest upon a somewhat insecure foundation. His designer, Charles Nicholson, is for the first time producing a yacht under the universal rule, and consequently racing more or less in the dark, whilst the famous American draughtsman, N. G. Herreshoff, has been creating craft under the rule for well nigh 40 years, and a long line of extraordinary successful yachts owe their being to his genius. Then again, although the universal rule encourages a vessel possessing more displacement than the more recent cup boats, no restrictions are placed upon the windings of the yachts and we will labor under the heavy penalty of having to construct a craft of sufficient strength to withstand the stresses of an ocean voyage.

Mr. Nicholson is a designer of striking originality, and one moreover, who has the courage of his convictions. He is sure to create a vessel of extreme design, which will prove either a flier or a failure, for nobody who has followed his career could imagine him producing a mediocrity. And, if ever the trophy is to be brought back across the Atlantic it is just such a designer who is likely to be instrumental in doing it. Another encouraging feature is that Mr. Nicholson is just now at the top of his form, and during the past season his yachts carried all before them. By the conditions of the deed of gift the challenging party has to name his vessel ten months before the contest, whilst the defenders are not called upon to nominate their representative until the morning of the first race. The need for secrecy as to the lines and dimensions of Shamrock IV, is therefore obvious and all that can be said is that Sir Thomas Lipton has challenged with a cutter of 75 feet waterline to race under the universal rule.

SAYS DEMOCRATS MUST TAKE FULL RESPONSIBILITY

Newlands Asserts Party Owes Trust Legislation to Country.

Washington, Feb. 9.—Though expressing the hope that the Republican members would yield in their expressed determination not to participate further in the deliberations of the interstate commerce committee on the trust legislation, Senator Newlands chairman of the committee declared today that the Democrats had to assume supervision over trust bills because the Democratic party is responsible to the country for legislation. Senators Cummins of Iowa and Clapp of Minnesota left a meeting of the committee last week when informed that the Democratic members had voted in a meeting of their own against certain amendments proposed by Republican members to the interstate trade commission bill. The Republican senators later announced they would not attend further meetings of the committee for the consideration of the trust bills.

"I hope that the senators will change their minds and join with the committee," said Senator Newlands.

"In discussing the matter with them I frankly stated that the Democratic members felt that they should consult with one another in shaping this legislation. The Democratic party is responsible for the legislation by this congress.

"We respect the co-operation and the suggestion of Republican senators and some of their suggestions we have already adopted. This is a government by majorities, and the majority must control. The meetings of Democratic members of this committee are reported to the full committee in every instance, and there is no ground for criticism on the basis of secret action."

Hearings on the trust bills continued today before house committees, Frederick Strauss, member of the Federal Stock and Bond Commission in the Taft administration, told the interstate commerce committee that proposed regulation of railroad securities by the interstate commerce commission would be dangerous interference with the normal course of finance. John D. Ryan, president of the Amalgamated Copper Company, told the judiciary committee that legislation would not prohibit American manufacturers combining for the purpose of competing with foreign producers.

ENGLISH PARLIAMENT TO OPEN TODAY WITH BIG FIGHT PROMISED

London, Feb. 9.—The full fighting forces of the various British political parties, in response to the urgent demands of their leaders, arrived in London today for the opening of Parliament, of which the session beginning tomorrow promises to be one of the most exciting for many years.

Practically every member of the House of Commons will be present, as serious illness is the only excuse accepted by the whips for nonattendance.

A large muster also is expected in the House of Lords, since the fight against Home Rule and other Government measures is to be carried on simultaneously in both chambers.

The Unionist leaders, who held another meeting today, decided to make Ulster's opposition to Home Rule the paramount issue, and according to current reports will refuse to allow discussion of any other subject, in the hope of thus forcing the Government to dissolve Parliament and refer the Irish Home Rule question to the people.

Both in the House of Commons and in the House of Lords, amendments are to be moved to the address in re-

ARMY AVIATOR KILLED BY FALL

San Diego, Cal., Feb. 9.—Lieut. H.B. Post, 1st Aero Corps, U. S. A., was instantly killed today by a fall of 500 feet in a hydro-aeroplane.

Lieut. Post was flying for an altitude record. He had the reputation of being the best aviator in the army camp on North Island, across the bay from San Diego.

About 150 feet from the surface of the bay Lieut. Post was seen to shoot clear of the machine. It was said by watchers that the engine exploded.

Second Lieut. Henry B. Post, who on Dec. 1, 1912, was attached to the 25th United States Infantry, was born in New York state, June 15, 1885, and was appointed to the army from civil life in that state Feb. 11, 1911.

Death 18th in Government Service
Washington, Feb. 9.—Second Lieut. Henry B. Post's death makes a total of 18 in government aviation since 1908, 15 being in the army and one in the navy. In aviation the world over approximately 435 persons have met death since 1908, 11 having been killed in the present year.

REBELS PROMISE TO GUARD THE SPANIARDS

Washington, Feb. 9.—Indirectly assurances have been received at the White House from Gen. Villa, for the proper treatment of foreigners. Representations by American consular officers on the necessity of extending to Spaniards as well as all foreign subjects equal protection have met with compliance.

At the same time Villa, it is understood, will not be disposed to ignore active participation by foreigners in the cause of Gen. Huerta, but will extend to any foreign combatant, however, the right of trial.

In the main the Administration here is disposed to regard as satisfactory Villa's assurances.

HAS HUERTA OBJECTED?
Berlin, Feb. 9.—An interpellation whether Provisional President Huerta had made representations to Germany in regard to the raising of the embargo on the exportation of arms and munitions of war from the United States to Mexico was addressed to the Imperial Chancellor in the Imperial Parliament today.

It was put by two of the National Liberal leaders, Ernst Bassermann and Baron Hatzmann von Rietzenhofen, the latter at one time German charge d'affaires in Mexico. The question was phrased in a tone of friendliness to Gen. Huerta.

NEW DESIGN FOR BILLS

Washington, Feb. 9.—Designs for the new fashions in paper money to be issued by the government under the currency act have been prepared by experts of the bureau of engraving and printing for submission to John Skelton Williams. This money may not be needed for months, but Director Ralph of the bureau will have the designs ready within a few days, and as soon as Mr. Williams has secured the approval of Secretary McAdoo the plates will be made and a few hundred millions will be sent whirling off the big presses of the bureau.

There will be three kinds of new currency, one for emergency purposes, succeeding the present but never-used emergency currency, one for the federal reserve banks, issued against U. S. bonds, with the circulation privilege, and the third one-year gold notes, to be issued to reserve banks against U. S. bonds, but not to have the circulation privilege. The designs contemplate the present size of paper money, although the plan of the Taft administration for smaller bills may be reflected in future issues. The law authorizes notes of $5, $20, $50 and $100. Present de-

SAY NAVY NEEDS FIXED PROGRAMME.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—The need of the navy is not so much the creation of sentiment throughout the country in favor of a strong navy as it is the translation of existing sentiment into a fixed building programme, according to Rear Admiral Richard Wadsworth, in a statement made public by the Navy League today.

"It would seem that the mass of voters," says Rear Admiral Wadsworth, "is in favor of a strong navy, if one may judge from the planks in the platforms of one of the great parties. But there has always been a lack of definite action until the advent of war, when much money has been expended and much energy devoted to improvising a navy. After the close of a war there is again a lack of energy, with an occasional show of interest and only spasmodic attempts to create a navy adequate to the needs of the country.

"Ever since the establishment of the United States navy there has been an effort on the part of naval officers to have a definite building programme adopted. Many voices have been raised in ship to show that we need a definite building programme outlining the number of battle ships, cruisers, destroyers, colliers and other auxiliaries.

"Early in the history of the General Board of the Navy a building policy was proposed. Year by year the General Board, with the support of the president, Admiral Dewey, has estimated for the ships necessary to show by reach the strength outlined in its policy. Annually this estimate has been cut down by the administration, to be again cut by Congress, because the people would not realize the necessity for such large expenditures.

"We have a naval policy. The people should learn that it is to their interest to force its adoption. Congress will gladly appropriate if the people make known their will in the matter. We must also the necessary proportion of wealth to be devoted to strength in time to be turned into munitions of war and to be used in training the required number of men."

Salem, Feb. 9.—Four passengers on train 1033, bound from Salem to Marblehead, were injured at 7:30 o'clock this morning when the train was in collision with a freight car.

The injured are William H. Paine, 19 Linden street, Marblehead, cuts on the head, Salem Hospital. Condition favorable.

William Murray, 1 English street, Salem, right leg badly bruised. Taken home.

E. A. Balcomb, 11 1-2 Federal street, Salem, right leg bruised and cut. Taken home.

John T. Collins, 15 Chestnut street, Danvers, arms badly sprained. Taken home.

There were 39 passengers on the train. When the train reached a point opposite Castle Hill the locomotive struck an open switch, and it was diverted to a side track and struck with great force a train of freight cars which were standing on the siding.

ENGLISH PARLIAMENT TO OPEN TODAY WITH BIG FIGHT PROMISED

London, Feb. 9.—The full fighting forces of the various British political parties, in response to the urgent demands of their leaders, arrived in London today for the opening of Parliament, of which the session beginning tomorrow promises to be one of the most exciting for many years.

Practically every member of the House of Commons will be present, as serious illness is the only excuse accepted by the whips for nonattendance.

The Unionist leaders, who held another meeting today, decided to make Ulster's opposition to Home Rule the paramount issue, and according to current reports will refuse to allow discussion of any other subject, in the hope of thus forcing the Government to dissolve Parliament and refer the Irish Home Rule question to the people.

Both in the House of Commons and in the House of Lords, amendments are to be moved to the address in reported from their seats by the shock. Neither the locomotive nor any of the passenger coaches left the rails, but the freight cars were badly damaged.

This is the first serious accident which has happened on the Marblehead branch since Nov. 2, 1913, when a train was derailed at practically the same place where today's accident happened and six persons were killed and five injured.

When the announcement was first made of the accident, the public was led to believe that several persons had been killed. As it was, escapes from death were miraculous, as the train was running quite fast when the locomotive struck the open switch, and was diverted onto the side track where several freight cars were stalled.

That the freight cars held fast, it is admitted that the impact of the locomotive would have been likely to have thrown the passengers out of the rails.

The injured passengers were quickly removed from the train, and, with the exception of Mr. Paine, were taken to their homes. At first it was thought that Mr. Paine had received very serious injury, as the wounds in his head were bleeding freely. It was soon learned, after his arrival at the hospital, that his injuries were not serious.

RODOLFO REYES IS SET FREE

No Evidence on Which Ex-Minister of Justice of Mexico Could Be Long-er Detained in Jail.

Mexico City, Feb. 9.—Rodolfo Reyes, formerly Minister of Justice, one of the Mexican deputies arrested on Nov. 11, last year, when Provisional President Huerta broke up the Mexican Congress by calling a large number of its members into jail, was released today from the penitentiary by order of the investigating court which found there was no evidence on which he could be longer detained.

Rodolfo Reyes is a son of the late Gen. Bernardo Reyes, formerly Secretary of War, who was killed during an attack on the National Palace by Gen. Felix Diaz a year ago, and who had been leader of an unsuccessful revolution against the late President Madero a year earlier.

BANK PRESIDENT SHORT $788,804

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 9.—Ten directors of the Mercantile bank, one of the most important financial institutions in the city, today filed a petition in chancery court charging that the bank was insolvent as the result of the alleged misappropriation of more than $750,000 by C. Hunter Haine, president of the institution.

In the petition Haine was held solely responsible for the apparent shortage, approximately $788,804, which it is charged he obtained by a system of handling the drafts, properly and exchange in such a way as to deceive the directors and to conceal his misappropriations, the total amount of which, it was alleged, he lost in speculation.

The petition alleges the liabilities of the bank at approximately $2,100,000, with assets of $1,311,195. In a published statement Jan. 9, liabilities were given as $2,100,000.

At that time the total deposits were $1,861,100, of which, $341,233 were savings accounts. The bank is capitalized at $250,000 and has a surplus of $100,000.

Resources, loans and discounts at the time of the statement amounted to $1,130,490, actual cash on hand was $24,784, sums due from other banks amounted to $480,165, cash items in transit amounted to $137,777. To be amounts, with other items, he paid the amount given as liabilities.

The alleged discrepancy was discovered by a representative of a New York correspondent of the bank, who was sent to Memphis last week to audit the books of the Mercantile bank, whose loans requested were found to be out of proportion to the amounts usually asked for at this season of the year. His report told the creditors yesterday, which brought the situation to a climax, was the first indication that the bank was not in a prosperous condition, according to the directors.

It is stated that President Haine, who attended yesterday's meeting, absconded with all of the officers and directors of the bank of implication in the alleged shortage and tendered his personal estate, which he valued at $350,000, to the bank. So far he has made no formal statement.

The bank was ordered to remain closed today by state bank officials who are making an investigation of the bank's affairs. It is not known when the investigation will be completed.

Is the Climate Changing?

Every winter there is more or less discussion regarding change of climate, some contending that a radical change has taken place within their memory and others that the winters are just about the same as they have always been, the change being in ourselves rather than in the climate. Those who take this view say the drifts looked bigger to us when we were children, and that so large a part of the population now lives in the cities and big towns that there is not so general a realization of the conditions in the rural districts as there would otherwise be.

That there is some force in that argument must be admitted, yet the testimony of many old people with good memories supports the theory that there has been a perceptible change in the character of our winters in the last half century or more. There are many men and women who remember when the winters seemed much harder than they have of late years, and who are not willing to admit that their memory is at fault. They remember when winter began in the latter part of November and lasted till well toward the first of April with but a single break, the old-fashioned January thaw, which was as much to be depended upon as any other part of the winter. In these later years it is not uncommon to have winter weather deferred till about Christmas, and to have for the next three months a mixture of snow, rain, cold and mild weather, mud, fog and ice. Sometimes the winter is nearly ended before the ice crop can be secured.

An old-New York man in a contribution to one of the newspapers of that city tells of a time when sleighing parties used to drive on the Hudson river from New York to Albany, and how for weeks practically every winter people walked across the river between New York and New Jersey as if the river had been composed of solid rock. He admits that the increase in shipping has been such that such solid freezing of the river would be impossible now, but does not believe that this accounts entirely for the change that has taken place.

The one thing certain is that we still have all the winter we want, and that if a change toward less rigorous conditions is in progress no one is disposed to place a straw in its way.

The Maiden in the Dark Woods of Maine.

Will the meek little maiden who is to enter the Maine woods clad only in the garb of Mother Eve serve under a committee of suffragettes or a committee of male members. If the pleasure is to fall to the male sex, the Herald editor declines in favor of Colonel Condon of The Union and Colonel Topping of the Mirror. The Herald will send Col. Amos T. Luther of Boston, the professor of the college of nature fakers, along with a moving picture outfit. The committee should warn the young Miss to look out for poison ivy in her tramp through the woods.

The salaries of many city employes in Boston which were increased by Mayor Fitzgerald before his retirement have been cut down by Mayor Curley to the original figures. Regardless of which of these officials was right in his action, is it just the proper thing to have the salaries of city employes subject to the whims of the mayor?

The people of New York have appropriately and adequately celebrated the 100th anniversary of the birth of Samuel J. Tilden, one of the great governors of that great commonwealth, and a statesman whose name in history is as secure as history itself.

No one can deny that the Pankhursts are good advertisers. Other modes having lost something of their novelty, and consequently their interest, they have evolved a little rupture among themselves, which adds a little candle power to their limelight.

Thirteen New York men have been sentenced to pay fines and serve terms in jail for combining to control the poultry trade of the city. Perhaps hereafter they will have greater respect for the "13" superstition.

It is about time to be selecting your valentines, that is, those you are going to send. Others will attend to those you are going to receive, some in the greatest kindness of their hearts and others with malice prepense.

The suffragists are to make a great demonstration in Washington May 9, and yet it is not probable that President Wilson's position on the equal suffrage question will be changed thereby.

The statement that there will probably be no shortage of ice this winter can readily be believed. Something else will have to be raked up as an excuse for high prices next summer.

The western part of the country still monopolizes the severest weather, but it is a monopoly which this part of the country has no disposition to break.

When President Wilson announced that he would deliver an address to the national council of boy scouts at the White House Lincoln's birthday he gave decided impetus to this movement, which has proved highly valuable in giving military instruction to the youth of the land. WHY "I CANNOT SING THE OLD SONGS."

I love those dear old stories that they sing in vaudeville. About "The Country Lassie" and "My Grandma's Spinning Wheel." The one that tells of "Other Days" with "Maggie at My Side." And how "At Night" "We wandered by the River's Flowing Tide," And when they tell of "Mother" and her "Little Old Red Shawl." The pictures of "Those Happy Days" "Sweet Memories" recall, And I sit beneath the shadow of the dear "Old Apple Tree." But yet, to tell the truth, Broadway is good enough for me.

There is one about the country "Where the Dear Old Shannons Flow." And another that pictures me "Where the Sweet Wild Violets Grow." Then comes a fond remembrance of dear "Grandma's Old Armchair" And the phantom of a girl who sang "Sweet Spirit, Hear my Prayer." Then "We rambled by the Brookside" and "Her Bright Smile Haunts Me Still." Bring the memory back to "O Ye Temples" and "Maggie of the Mill." And "When the Corn is Waving, Annie Dear," and "Aura Lee." But yet, to tell the truth, Broadway is good enough for me.

When I'm Dreaming "In the Gloaming" of "My Old Kentucky Home," I feel that "Though I've Wandered Far, I Care No More to Return." Or perhaps it is the calling of "The Cabin by the Sea" Down "Beside the Rippling Waters" that again appeals to me; Or I'm once more with "Juanita" "When the Robins Nest Again." And an unfolding over "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "Love is Such a Pain." Or I hear "My Brown-Haired Alice" sing "Sweet Bessie of Dundee." But yet, to tell the truth, Broadway is good enough for me.

"Take Me Back to Dear Old Mother" "In the Good Old Summertime." And "The Little Old Brown Chapel" there to hear "The Village Chime" While "The Shepherd Boy" is piping to his own "Sweet Annie Moore." And the "Nightingale is Singing" of "The Days That Were of Yore," There is "Moonlight on the Water" and "The Bloom is on the Rye" And "The Little Old Log Cabin" makes me dream of "home-made pie."

But "I Cannot Sing the Old Songs" I sang long since to thee, Because, alas, today Broadway is good enough for me.

NEW ENGLAND WEATHER

Good Reasons Why it is Very Closely Studied

It is pleasant to learn that in the opinion of Washington officials, New England surpasses all the winterland in her intelligent regard for weather. Of course everyone knows that our weather compels attention. New England weather comes in every kind and contrast; not even Texas has as much weather to the square mile. Mark Twain's classic diatribe on our climate is the least exaggerated of his

WHY OUR TROOPS WILL NOT JOIN

Officer of National Guard Says Training is Reserved to States.

A prominent officer of the National Guard, when asked this morning why the militia troops of the New Hampshire do not go into joint maneuvers outside the state, replied: "The answer is 'why should they?' The constitution of the United States especially stipulates that the appointment of the officers and the training of the militia is reserved to the states. "Militia training, is or should be, elementary, to meet the limited time our citizens who make their living by other occupations have to devote to military matters, and, as at least one-third of our officers and men are new to their positions each year, they require instruction in small units, squads, companies, battalions and regiments, rather than to be absorbed in large maneuvers involving only grand tactics and strategy, a study for generals.

"This state has no general officers of the line. There is only one regiment of infantry, a troop of cavalry and a field battery, with detachments of signal and hospital troops. We are our people's troops, supported by our people and should do our training where our people will see what we are doing as their servants, or they will instruct their representatives to vote as a supporting appropriation in the annual legislative budget."

HEAR TALK ON SUFFRAGE

A few weeks ago the Italian king in a speech from the throne, spoke favorably of equal suffrage and this same policy is making great progress in public favor in France. The women of the French capital already have municipal suffrage, and only as a first step toward full political equality for all French women.

"And yet it was in this country as far back as 1869 that the first modern experiment in equal suffrage was tried. The women of Wyoming have had an equal share in the government as long as Wyoming has had any government at all. The words 'Equal Rights' form the motto of the state seal. Wyoming did not become a state until 1890. At that time there was a great prejudice in Congress against admitting a state with a woman suffrage clause in its constitution. Wyoming was advised to submit that clause or run the risk of losing the privileges of statehood. The legislature then in session telegraphed its reply to Washington: 'We will remain out of the Union a hundred years rather than come in without woman suffrage.'

"On the map which represents the suffrage situation today, the white states have full political equality, the shaded states a limited form of suffrage and the black states no woman suffrage at all. You notice that every full suffrage state has others of the same class in its neighborhood. The second state to give suffrage to women was Colorado, south of Wyoming. This was in 1893. In 1896 Utah and Idaho followed. Each of these states touches Wyoming. Each followed its neighbor's example because it found its neighbor's policy obviously sound and good. It is perfectly clear, I think, that if woman suffrage had not worked well in Wyoming those next by would not have adopted it. If a little boy introduces a new game in his back yard and after a time we find all the other little boys on that block are playing this game with their friends we may safely conclude it is a good game and would find favor on another street or in another district. And yet in the nineties people shook their heads and said though woman suffrage might be a success in Wyoming it could not be in Colorado, Utah and Idaho. Conditions were not quite the same. In the early days of Wyoming the proportion of women was so small that they formed a privileged class, a sort of aristocracy. In these other states, particularly in Colorado, the conditions were more like the East, the population was larger and the proportion of women larger. For fourteen years, from 1886 to 1900, these four states stood alone while the rest of the country and the whole world looked on to see what would happen. What did

CURRENT OPINION

Taft Never Would Have Recognized Huerta's Claim to Presidency.

I believe that President Wilson has been entirely right in refusing to recognize Huerta. President Taft, had he continued in office, would never have recognized Huerta's claim to the presidency of Mexico. I am convinced that I express the sentiment of the entire Taft administration in saying that.

Beyond that I can say only that it is the duty of the American people to back the President in his policy. It is in no sense a partisan matter. Too much is at stake in this country's dealings with foreign nations to permit of the slightest tinge of partisanship in any good citizen's attitude.

Wilson has adopted a well defined policy toward Mexico. He appears to be following that policy consistently. All the powers seem to be working to support their President.—Franklin MacVough, Secretary of Treasury in Taft Administration.

GOOD REPORT.

Of the Work Done by the State Militia During 1913.

The report of William Sullivan, inspector general of the N. H. N. G., to the Adjutant General, Herbert S. Tulkner, has been published in general orders, No. 5. This report is concerning the field instruction for 1913, and is very favorable to all phases of the camp of instruction, the discipline and courtesy being commendable.

In conclusion the inspector says: "The very marked improvement found in the instruction, discipline, equipment and readiness for emergency may be attributed to the untiring energy, knowledge, and practical experience of the adjutant general whose life's training as a soldier of the United States army has peculiarly fitted him for this position."

NOT LIKE THE REAL THING

Critic of Novelists Complains That Writers Do Not Properly Represent Life as It Is.

Mrs. Durnford was known to disapprove of literary people, writes Mrs. Mary C. D. Wemyss in "People of Popham," and her proud boast was that she never read novels. "I can see life as it is, without its being made ridiculous by people who know nothing about it," she would declare. "You see, Miss Hope, what I object to in writing is this," said Mrs. Durnford. "You set out to write a book, which heaven forbid! You write about me! Well, you haven't the least idea what I am thinking about! You say, 'Mrs. Durnford was very much touched when I told her about old Mr. Tubbs' death. Her eyes filled with tears.' Well, they didn't. I wanted to snuggle, that was all! See?"

"Well, that would be called literary license. I am sure you would feel the death of a Mr. Tubbs dreadfully. I can imagine any one would," I said. "I just happened to think of the name. I don't suppose a name makes any difference," she replied. "And in describing love, my dear. You may have had proposals, of course. If you have, you will know that not one man in fifty kneels. I shouldn't have respected Doctor Durnford's intelligence if he had. Now take proposals in books! Pages and pages, chapters sometimes, whereas the real thing happens like this: Doctor Durnford met me at the corner of the road, by the sign post, and he asked me what I was going to do, and I said I was going for a walk. And he said, very naturally, I thought, 'May I come, too?' I bowed. Then he said nothing till we got to Dyer's Pond, and then he said, 'May I walk with you through here?' I said, 'Yes.' That was all. He gave me the ring; it was in his pocket. Diamonds and sapphires, small, but large enough."

"She went on:

"What could be simpler? We had an oak suite in the dining-room, a mahogany suite in the consulting-room, a satinwood suite in the drawing-room and ash in the bedroom. We had good carpets throughout, changing on the stairs from pile to cord at my bedroom. They are all as good today as they were then."

I said I thought she had chosen most wisely, both in husband and furniture.—Youth's Companion.

Alabama's Iron Ore Deposits.

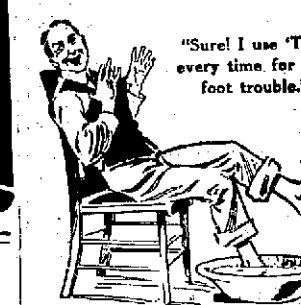

The boom which followed the discovery of the extensive deposits of iron ore in the vicinity of Birmingham, Alabama, in 1882, was without precedent in the industrial history of the United States, and the rush to Birmingham was paralleled only by the stampedes which followed such discoveries as the Comstock lode in Nevada and the Alaska gold fields. The iron ores of Alabama, while inferior in quality to those of Lake Superior, have the advantage of being near deposits of good coking coal and of the limestone requisite for fluxing, so that Birmingham, the Pittsburgh of the south, can manufacture pig iron cheaper than any other district of the world.

UNDER COVER.

If you would enjoy a delightful evening's entertainment don't fail to see "Under Cover," now on the eve of its eighth week at the Plymouth theatre, Boston. As other plays come and go, "Under Cover" gains prestige and it is the one play that leaves a lasting memory of a story well told. Few plays seen in Boston have made their way more quickly into the attention and the interest of the public.

The piece entered into its present engagement practically unheralded and in a short time had scored the biggest hit of any play seen in Boston in years. While the unanimous praise accorded the play has unquestionably assisted in the success the month to month commendation has done much more. "Under Cover" is an interesting, exciting and surprising story ingeniously, suspensefully and engrossingly told. It firmly grips the attention of the auditor from the beginning and does not cease until you are carried through four ripling, rapid-fire acts bristling with clever, snappy and breezy dialogues. Unlike most other plays "Under Cover" makes an emphatic appeal to all classes of theatregoers. It is the sort of play that you will want to see several times and gladly recommend it to your friends. It presents an up-to-date picture of New York's fashionable world and the workings of the United States customs. The production is elaborately staged and the principal characters are ably handled by a cast of well known players headed by William Courtney and Lily Cahill. Mr. Courtney, whose popularity with New England playgoers is well known, appears as Steven Denby, the suspected smuggler. It is a role just suited for his admirable qualifications. The regular Thursday and Saturday matinees prevail while an extra matinee is announced for Washington's Birthday, Monday, February 23. Mail orders as usual are given the strictest attention.

REGIMENTAL COLORS IN PAWN

Odd Experiences of British Emblems Once Greatly Prized by Those Who Carried Them.

The discovery of the long lost colors of the old 60th regiment in the garden of Puntington house, near, Chichester, is a reminder of the strange fates that have befallen so many of these glorious military emblems, London Tit-Bits remarks. The colors of the 81st foot, since disbanded—were captured by American pirates during the war of independence and hidden away in Ireland; the colors of the 20th regiment were deliberately burnt prior to the surrender at Saratoga to prevent their capture by the enemy.

At Bergen-op-Zoom the Royal Scots, to save their precious colors from falling into French hands, sank them deep in the river, though the enemy later fished them out; and when the second battalion of the 8th foot was disbanded at Portsmouth in 1816 the colors were cut into small pieces and distributed among the officers.

One of the colors of the 1st Northamptonshire regiment, which had been carried right through the peninsular campaign, was discovered some years ago in a pawn broker's shop, though how it got there is a mystery to this day. A similar uncertainty attaches to a pair of old colors of the 2d Border regiment, which were recovered from a London pawn broker, who was offering them for sale, by Lord Archibald Campbell in 1888.

Four years later four colors which had accompanied the Gloucester regiment in Egypt and in the peninsula were recovered from a York pawn broker. It appeared that, having been bequeathed by an old colonel of the regiment to his son, they were ultimately secured by a servant, who, falling on evil times, pawned them for a few shillings.

SEVILLE STILL HAS CARMENS

Thousands of the Picturesque and Charming Cigarette Girls Are Employed There.

The most astonishing building in the Calle de San Fernando is the immense two story baroque edifice that covers more ground than the cathedral plus the court of oranges, and serves the purpose of a tobacco factory. The portal is adorned with busts of Columbus and Fernando Cortes, and I wish very much that we had had time to go inside and see these many cigarette girls at their work. As we passed I thought again of Carmen and the story of Bizet's fantastic Sevillian opera, for about 5,000 Carmens, or "cigareras," like Carmen, are employed in this factory, and attire themselves today in gay gowns and fascinating mantillas, with flowers tucked under their ears and coquettishly placed in their hair, very much like the heroine of the opera. Like the opera, also, adjoining the factory are the artillery barracks, and one imagines it to be quite possible that some impressionable Don Jose should be fascinated by some of these pliant and pretty Carmens.—From "Royal Spain of Today," by Mrs. Tryphosa Bates-Datchell.

See Value of Exercise.

There is no doubt but that exercise is a good thing for those who do not get it, but to many the daily use of dumb-bells, weights and similar apparatus grows irksome, the reason being a lack of stimulation owing to the fact that the person taking the exercise sees nothing accomplished as the result of the work and time spent. Gladstone preferred to work at the woodpile, and here and there was the constantly maintained interest of seeing the pile increase after each period of action. The same has been accomplished in a real up-to-the-moment manner by a French inventor who has taken an exercising machine which is rather familiar in the shape of a bicycle on a permanent stand, and he has combined this with a storage battery. When the various members of the family are taking their daily exercise on this machine they are storing up current to be used in the form of illumination after nightfall.

FORCED OUT OF SERVICE BY CLIQUE OF OFFICERS

Lt. Col. Perkins May Be Reinstated By Congress--Secretary Daniels Makes Recommendations After An Inquiry.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—Mr. Joseph Daniels, the Secretary of the Navy, will recommend to Congress within a few days the passage of a bill to reinstate in the Marine Corps Lieutenant Colonel Constantine M. Perkins, whom he has become convinced was forced out of the service by a clique of marine officers in Washington.

This decision on the part of Mr. Daniels has shaken the Navy Department to its foundations. To Senator John Smith and Representative William Schley Howard, of Georgia, advocates of Lieutenant Colonel Perkins' reinstatement, whom he has advised of his decision, he referred to Lieutenant Colonel Perkins as "the American Dr. Jekyll."

"There was no racial prejudice in this case, as there was in the French army scandal, but the retirement of Lieutenant Colonel Perkins, according to his friends and advocates, was brought about by a clique of marine officers who sought to obtain a number for a personal favorite."

Mr. Daniels' decision in the Perkins case is part of his general program of sending officers to sea and breaking up influential cliques in the national capital. Many of the officers involved in the Perkins scandal are leaders in military and social life here. Two or three of them have been disciplined and others failed to obtain desirable details which they sought.

Colonel Littleton W. T. Water, who was president of the Retiring Board which considered the Perkins case, recently failed to obtain appointment as commander of the Marine Corps and Colonel George Barnett, the only member of the Board, who voted for Lieutenant Colonel Perkins, was successful in his efforts to obtain the post.

Mr. Daniels let it be known at that time that the Perkins case and the activity of Colonel Barnett as a member of the military clique influenced his action.

Marine Officers Involved.

Involved in the scandal are the Marine Corps officers who figured in the investigation of the Marine Corps headquarters under the Taft administration. Major General George F. Elliott, retired, charged that several of his subordinates endeavored to force his retirement, in favor of a member of their clique. However, in the Perkins case, Major General Elliott appeared as the head of the clique, according to Representative Howard. Colonel Charles H. Laughlin, adjutant of the corps, a leading social figure in Washington, and president of the Army and Navy Club, is also involved, according to the same gentleman.

Those who recall President Wilson's successful fight against secret societies in college life while president at Princeton University, anticipate that he will strongly support Mr. Daniels in his latest fight.

Long service at the national capital is regarded by Secretary Daniels as destructive to any officer, since it leads to the cultivation of political influence in one's support, and to ask for legislation rigidly limiting the term of any officer's detail in the national capital to four years at one time.

In a scathing denunciation of Major General Elliott for his part in the overthrow of Lieutenant Colonel Perkins, Representative Howard, of Georgia, speaking before the House Military Affairs Committee in support of his bill for Lieutenant Colonel Perkins' reinstatement, said:

"While this brave officer, who has been made the victim of an outrageous conspiracy, was in the midst of the Mafafa revolution in Samoa; while he was fighting the battles of his country in the Preston revolution on the isthmus of Panama; while he was at the bombardment of Alexandria, Egypt, under Lord Charles Beresford; while he was exposing his life in the Colombian rebellion, in the great railroad strikes in California and in the Hawaiian Islands, this crowd of dunces here in Washington were planning great battles in the army and navy club. For the brave deep they had good liquor and bitters, and for a battle ship bright red cherries with toothpicks to represent the funnels. They furnished the motive power—hot air."

Reports Influence Mr. Daniels

The action of Mr. Daniels in recommending the reinstatement of Lieutenant Colonel Perkins, is based upon two reports of one (Time) Judge Advocate of the Navy Department and upon the result of a searching investigation which he has instituted. Several weeks ago it was understood that Mr. Daniels had definitely determined on the action he will take, but delayed to hear further representations from the officers involved.

When the letter of Mr. Daniels reaches the House Naval Affairs Committee Representative Howard will seek to get a favorable report immediately and call up the bill in the House. Representative Samuel A. Witherup, of Mississippi, chairman of a subcommittee, which investigated the case, is in favor of action. Representative Thomas S. Butler, republican, of Pennsylvania, another member of the committee, will also support the Howard bill, according to its author. Mr. Butler was formerly opposed to favorable action, but has modified his position and become convinced that an injustice was done.

Lieutenant Colonel Perkins was in the service thirty years before he was forced out in 1907. Although he voluntarily resigned, his friends say he did so under pressure. At that time his principal adviser was Representative Leander F. Livingston, of Georgia, who assured him that the only thing for him to do was to resign but promised to move immediately to have Congress reinstate him. Representative Livingston, died, and the fight was taken up by his successor, Representative Howard, of the Atlanta district.

For six years Lieutenant Colonel Perkins has made a determined and unflinching fight to be restored to the service. Resting under the odium of "mental instability," he entered a law school, took a three years' course in two years and captured many class honors.

Because of the services rendered by his father in the Mexican war, President Grant appointed him to the Naval Academy. His record there and his temporary absences from classes because of sickness were dug up by the Retiring Board in considering his case.

Sent to the Canal Zone.

While in the Philippines in 1903, he had an attack of dengue fever. He was ordered to the Mare Island navy yard, and on recovering was put on recruiting duty in Pennsylvania and later sent back to California. "One day he received word from Major General Elliott threatening that if he should pass his examination and be promoted to lieutenant colonel he would be sent back to the tropics. He did pass and was sent to the Canal Zone."

The record in the case for his reinstatement.

Portsmouth, Like Every City and Town in the Union, Receives It.

People with kidney ills want to be cured. When one suffers the tortures of an aching back, relief is eagerly sought for. There are many remedies today that relieve but do not cure. Doan's Kidney Pills have brought lasting results to thousands. Here is Portsmouth evidence of their merit.

B. A. Barry, 174 Congress street, Portsmouth, N. H., says:

"Doan's Kidney Pills did a member of our family more good than any other remedy he ever tried. The person referred to is employed on the railroad and the constant jolting and jarring of the cars weakened his kidneys. His back was very lame and at times his whole body became sore. Learning that Doan's Kidney Pills were a fine remedy for kidney complaint he procured a box at Phillips' drug store and began using them. Before long a cure was effected and from that day to this, the kidney trouble has not returned. I also used Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me of lameness in my back and strengthened my kidneys."

THE FAIRBANK COMPANY

"Let the GOLD DUST TWINS do your work"

statement charges that he was continually crossed and harassed while in the Canal Zone and his simplest orders were countermanded.

One day an officer, who recently figured in the news despatches in Atlanta in connection with a scandal, informed Lieutenant Colonel Perkins that he would be sent to St. Elizabeth's. By these tactics he was forced to apply for retirement.

Major General Elliott in an official report on the Perkins case said:

"In 1907 Lieutenant Colonel Constantine M. Perkins, United States Marine Corps, retired, appeared before a Marine Retiring Board, which Board found him, because of his mental condition, incapacitated for the performance of duties incident to his rank, and I have no reason to believe that the findings in his case were not just and impartial."

"The general reputation and character of Lieutenant Colonel Perkins is that he is not mentally well balanced; that he has not the ordinary judgment necessary for an officer to possess in order to properly perform the duties of his rank."

He recommended that if legislation was passed restoring Lieutenant Colonel Perkins that he should prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of the Navy his "physical, mental, moral and professional fitness to perform the duties of the grade of colonel."

COME SPECIAL USES

FOR CORN MEAL

Especially Suited for Making Waffles and Doughnuts, and May Be Substituted for Flour in Making Cakes.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—The peculiar consistency of corn meal, which is a disadvantage under some circumstances, is an advantage in making griddlecakes or waffles, for it renders them very tender. Among the recipes which a new farmer's bulletin (No. 567) of the Department of Agriculture recommends are the following:

Corn-Meal Pancakes.

Two cups flour, 1-2 cup corn meal, 1-2 tablespoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoons salt, 1-3 cup sugar, 1-2 cups boiling water, 1-1-4 cups milk, 1 egg.

Add meal to boiling water and boil 5 minutes; turn into bowl, add milk and remaining dry ingredients mixed and sifted, then the egg well beaten, and butter. Cook on a greased griddle.

Corn Meal and Wheat Waffles.

One and one-half cups water, 1-2 cup white corn meal, 1-2 cups milk, 2 cups flour, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1-1-4 tablespoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoons salt, yolks 2 eggs, whites 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons melted butter.

Cook the meal in boiling water 20 minutes; add milk, dry ingredients mixed and sifted, yolks of eggs well beaten, butter and whites of eggs beaten stiff. Cook on a greased waffle iron.

There is also a large variety of popular and very nutritious puddings that may be made with corn meal although rice is probably more frequently used. The Department's experts in nutrition suggest that the housewife try these:

Indian Pudding.

Five cups milk, 1-3 cup corn meal, 1-2 cup molasses, 1 teaspoonful salt, 1 teaspoonful ginger.

Cook milk and meal in a double boiler 20 minutes; add molasses, salt and ginger; pour into buttered pudding dish and bake 2 hours in slow oven; serve with cream.

Corn Meal and Fig Pudding.

One cup corn meal, 1 cup molasses, 5 cups milk or 4 of milk and 2 of cream, 1 cup finely chopped figs, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon salt.

Cook the corn meal with 4 cups of the milk, add the figs and salt. When the mixture is cool, add the eggs well beaten. Pour into a buttered pudding dish and bake in a moderate oven for 3 hours or more. When partly cooked add the remainder of the milk without stirring the pudding.

Corn Meal and Apple Pudding.

For the figs in the above recipe substitute a pint of finely sliced or chopped sweet apples.

It is often possible to substitute corn meal for part of the flour in making cakes. In some cases there is no special advantage in using it but it is well to know that it can be used in emergencies. In making doughnuts, however, there is a decided advantage in substituting corn meal for part of the flour, for doughnuts so made are more likely to be tender.

Indian Meal Doughnuts.

Three-fourths cup milk, 1-1-2 cups very fine white corn meal, 1-1-4 cups wheat, flour, one-fourth cup butter, three-fourths cup sugar, 2 eggs well beaten, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 level teaspoon salt.

Put milk and meal into a double boiler and heat together for about 10 minutes. Add the butter and sugar to the meal, sift together the wheat flour, baking powder, cinnamon, and salt. Add these and the eggs to the meal. Roll out on a well-floured board; cut into the desired shapes; fry in deep fat; drain and roll in powdered sugar.

Corn meal, because it requires long cooking, is peculiarly adaptable for preparation in the fireless cooker. Also, like all finely divided foods which are cooked in water, it can easily be brought to a uniformly high temperature, and there is no danger, as there is in cooking large pieces of meat, for example, that some parts will be cooler when the food is put into the cooker.

The large amount of water with which it is combined is also of advantage, for water has a very high specific heat, and for this reason cools off comparatively slowly. In cooking corn meal in the fireless cooker, 4 hours least should be allowed.

A recipe for corn meal mush made in the fireless cooker is as follows:

1 cup meal, 1 teaspoon salt, 4-1-2 cups water, milk, or milk and water. Mix the ingredients and bring them to the boiling point. Place the pail in the cooker and leave for from 4 to 12 hours. If the pail holding the mush is set into another pail of hot water before being placed in the cooker, the heat will be retained better, but whether this is necessary or not depends on the efficiency of the cooker.

The new bulletin just issued, which gives these recipes and others, is entitled: "Corn Meal as a Food and Ways of Using It," and may be had free upon application to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

BIG APPROPRIATION FOR WAR SUPPLIES

Washington, Feb. 9.—The Senate passed the fortifications appropriation bill, carrying $6,595,200 and materially increasing the House appropriations for artillery and ammunition today.

Preparedness of the United States for war was debated during consideration of the bill. The Senate committee added nearly $2,000,000 over the House appropriation for field artillery and ammunition.

Senator Bryan said the increases were made to meet, as nearly as possible, the estimate for an army of half a million men.

"If there are only 75,000 men in the army now, why should we have an army of half a million men?" asked Senator Sheppard.

"So as to be prepared for war," replied Senator Bryan. "While we had only 20,000 men operating around Santiago in the Spanish-American War, we had some quarter of a million men enlisted. With this allowance of guns America would still have less guns per man than any other first-class Power. We should remember it takes years to make these guns."

"Think of the great Pacific coast, without powder enough to last 30 minutes under attack," exclaimed Senator Warren.

Senator Smoot said the lack of ammunition was almost criminal. "Even Mexico possesses more mobile guns than we do," said he.

Senator Ashurst attacked the appropriations as extravagant. "We are now spending 65 cents out of every dollar raised by the Federal Government for wars past, or which we think, or pretend to think, are in the future."

Senator Sutherland challenged his figures.

Senator Ashurst retorted that there were "patriots for profit only" in the country, who "filled the country with alarms of war, because they had armor plate or powder to sell."

Senator Chamberlain chairman of the Military Committee, pleaded for a more efficient army as the best method of keeping peace.

"I do not think I am out of place in

For earache, toothache, pains, burns, scalds, sore throat, try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, a splendid saying that the situation now confronting this country is a delicate one," he added. "I hope we never will have trouble, but we ought to be prepared for trouble if it ever comes."

WINTER'S BACKBONE INTACT

Washington, Feb. 9.—Winter's backbone is still a long way from broken, according to the weather experts.

"The general distribution of atmospheric pressure over the North American continent and the adjacent oceans," said the weekly bulletin, "is such as to indicate temperatures considerably below the seasonal average until the middle of the week east of the Rocky Mountains, and temperatures near the seasonal average on the Pacific Slope."

"The weather will be generally fair during the first half of the week in the plains states, first half of the week in the plains states, the great Central Valleys and the Atlantic States. In the Gulf and South Atlantic states the weather will be overcast with probably rain along the Gulf and South Atlantic coasts until Wednesday."

"The next disturbance of importance to cross the United States will appear on the North Pacific Coast Tuesday, attended by general rains; it will prevail over the Middle West about Thursday and the Eastern States Friday or Saturday; this disturbance will be preceded by a general reaction to higher temperatures and be attended by general rain in southern and snow and rain in northern states east of the Rocky Mountains. It will be followed by colder weather, which will make its appearance in the Northwest on Thursday."

SUPERINTENDENT PAYSON WILL SPEAK

On Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Assembly Hall, at the local high school, the Teachers' Association will hold a meeting. State Superintendent Payson of Maine will deliver an address.

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Tee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and strain a teaspoon full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless. Take a look at The Herald's classified column every day. It may be of interest to you.
